

The University of New South Wales (UNSW)

UNSW has more than 45,000 students with over 10,000 of these coming from more than 135 overseas countries, creating a dynamic and vibrant international community on campus. The University maintains more than 250 sister university partnerships with prominent Australian and overseas institutions and works closely with industry and commerce in a national and international capacity.

UNSW is proud of its comprehensive international involvement in teaching, research and industry linkages. UNSW is a member of the Group of Eight (Go8), the coalition of Australia's leading teaching and research universities and a member of Universitas 21 (U21). The U21 network capitalises on the established reputation and operational reach of its international members. UNSW is ranked 47th in the world (THES-QS 2009) and is consistently ranked as one of the top universities in the Asian region.

UNSW GLOBAL Pty Limited (UNSW GLOBAL)

UNSW GLOBAL PTY LTD is the wholly owned not for profit company of the University of NSW. UNSW Global has a specific brief to provide non-degree education programs and to facilitate the international educational activities of the University as a whole. UNSW GLOBAL has three core activities: education and training; consultancy services; and educational measurement and assessment.

UNSW Institute of Languages (UNSWIL)

UNSW Institute of Languages is a business unit of UNSW Global and is one of Australia's oldest and most prestigious language centres. It offers a comprehensive range of language courses and is widely recognised, internationally and domestically for provision of language training and testing. Over its forty year history, the Institute has also built an international reputation for its contribution to intercultural understanding and community services.

UNSWIL offers customised Elite Programs including English language courses. UNSWIL has successfully run programs for partner institutions from a range of countries and many of these are repeat clients, reflecting a high level of customer satisfaction.

The UNSW Institute of Languages works in close consultation with the partner institution in planning, developing and implementing courses. The courses are tailored to suit the requirements of the partner institution and the individual needs of the participants.
